(By United Press)
Aboard the President Harding Funeral Train, Aug. 6.—In an almost unbroken line across the rolling Iowa farm lands past which the President Harding funeral train sped on its journey to the capital today, the American people of this part of the country paid tribute to the passing of their chieftain.

Running through the cities of Boone, State Center and Marshalltown, the largest throngs of which these communities were capable stood reverently to mark the passing of the train, and in between there were but few minutes when there were not little groups, or perhaps just a solitary farmer dismounted from his reaper, or a group of hands at work in the field who did not stop for the moment that the special was passing, to pay their respects to the dead president and the brave widow who sat in the last car beside the flag-draped bier.

The special train, bearing back to Washington all that is mortal of President Harding, was racing in the gathering daylight to make up a little time lost through a near-mishap and to reach the home state of the late executive before nightfall.

A tire slipped from the forward driving wheel of the big locomotive that was drawing the funeral special at it was rolling slowly through Chaple, Neb., Sunday. Had the train been running at high speed a serious accident might have occurred. As it was, the engine of the train following was commandeered and the trip resumed with the loss of but half an hour of time.

This was not allowed to interfere with the slow cadence of the clicking, humming wheels that marks their approach to a town or city, where watchful, bareheaded groups gather to pay their respects to the honored remains and the pale, silent woman in the last car, alone with the guard of honor and her dead.

But when she speaks of this at all it is with expressions of gratitude for the American people's thoughts.

A chief concern of those who are accompanying the president's remains to Washington for the funeral services Wednesday was that Mrs. Harding, wan and visibly aged from her suffering and her almost superhuman efforts not to give way, might not break down in the fight she has so bravely begun. The remarkable woman who sits for hours beside the bier in the rear compartment rested a little better Sunday, despite the prolonged strain, and her thoughts, when she was not at her post in the funeral coach, were for the comfort of others in the party.

She sent personal inquiries to several newspaper men about colds contracted in San Francisco, telling them to take care of themselves and rest while on the train.

Mrs. Harding, who would seem to be in need of the sympathy and strength of the whole nation, as in deed it has been poured out to her in the endless stream of telegrams of condolence, is trying to brighten the days for those about her. Her wonderful courage is the marvel of her friends. But they see, behind the drawn, firm kindly features, evidences of the anguish of her spirit.

Each silent crowd which they pass furnishes remembrance of the nation's loss, and must be an additional pang of sorrow for the widow. But when she speaks of this at all it is with expressions of gratitude for the American people's thoughts.

LAST TYPE SET BY LATE PRESIDENT IS PRESERVED IN GOLD

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 6.—The last type set by Warren G. Harding has been plated in gold and is to be sent to Washington to be kept with other relics of the dead president.

me in this hour," Mrs. Harding said, her hand on a stack of telegrams that came pouring in at every station.

At two or three Iowa points—Boone, Clinton and Cedar Rapids—the funeral special was to pause or stop. The throng along the route now are so dense that hundreds cannot catch even a glimpse of the flower-strewn compartment containing the president's casket. The wide stretches of country where solitary little communities paid their tribute have been replaced by more frequent and more thickly populated communities as the train draws near the last lap of the journey.

As the train passes along, hour by hour it is the same story—the American people line the steel highway along which the last journey of President Harding is being run.

The people of Illinois as well as those of Iowa have the opportunity to pay their tribute today.

The train is due at Chicago, where a tremendous crowd is expected to pay its tribute of mourning, at 3:30 this afternoon.

One of the most remarkable gatherings of all those along the journey was in Omaha early today.

Although the special was reported behind time many thousands stood in the long early morning hours awaiting its arrival. On the station platform were heaped high scores of wreaths and floral tributes to President Harding. In the darkness along the tracks for a mile in either direction from the station stood the massed waiting throngs. Now and then a match flared or the racing of a diver engine with suddenly brightening headlights broke the silence, but for the most part all was quiet as eyes were strained in the darkness for the sight of the special train and ears listened for its whistle.

When the funeral special finally came in like a sable ghost out of the darkness, its drivers ground more and more slowly between the long ranks and heaps of flowers. The train itself was a veritable train of the dead, moving silently past with diminishing speed until the last car came into sight. The windows of

(By United Press)
Temporary White House, Willard Hotel, Washington, Aug. 6: Final arrangements to receive the remains of Warren G. Harding at the nation's capital tomorrow were announced today by President Coolidge, who has taken personal charge of the funeral of his dead chief.

The president will leave the temporary White House about 1 o'clock accompanied by his military aide, Colonel C. O. Sherrill, to meet the funeral train, which arrives here at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Following the president will be two automobiles, the first bearing Senator Cummins of Iowa, president pro tempore of the Senate, and representatives of congress, and the other Chief Justice Taft, representing the judiciary of the nation.

A military escort composed of the second squadron of the Third Cavalry and one battery of the Sixth Field Artillery will form at the Union Station before the arrival of the train. The casket of the dead president will be placed on the artillery caisson and borne to the White House.

The remains will rest in the Crystal East Room of the White House from the time of arrival until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. While the body of the president lies in the White House there will be placed on the bier one wreath by Mrs. Harding, one by President and Mrs. Coolidge, one for the Supreme Court by Chief Justice Taft, one from Congress and the House and from heads of the foreign and state governments only.

Flowers sent to Mrs. Harding by her personal and intimate friends will also be received at the White House during the period the president's body lies in the executive mansion. After the arrival of the funeral train and such of her party as she may designate will go to the White House apart from the funeral procession, which will move by the slow, dead march tread up historic Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Coolidge and the wives of cabinet members will be at the White House to meet Mrs. Harding when she arrives at the executive mansion.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION

To the People of the United States:

In the inscrutable wisdom of divine providence, Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States, has been taken from us. The nation has lost a wise and enlightened statesman and the American people a true friend and counsellor whose public life was inspired with the desire to promote the best interests of the United States and the welfare of all its citizens. His private life was marked by gentleness and brotherly sympathy, and by the charm of his personality he made friends of all who came in contact with him.

It is meet that the deep grief which fills the hearts of the American people should find fitting expression.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States of America, do appoint Friday, next, Aug. 10, the day on which the body of the dead president will be laid in its last earthly resting place, as a day of mourning and prayer throughout the United States. I earnestly recommend the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow in submission to the will of Almighty God, and to pay out of full heart the homage and love and reverence to the memory of the great and good president, whose death has so sorely smitten the nation.

In witness I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the fourth day of August, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-eighth.

TRACTS, SAYS HOWARD
T. BOOTH

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—Howard T. Booth of the National City company, who has returned from a trip in central Canada, states he was very much impressed with conditions in and around Winnipeg.

"I could not help noticing the feeling of confidence and optimism regarding the future of Canada which was expressed by bankers and business men in Winnipeg," said Mr. Booth.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railway system, told Mr. Booth that "In three years the deficit of the system will be completely wiped out." This road has been operating at a loss for some time, owing principally to the condition of the territory which it serves.

Winnipeg was regarded by Mr. Booth as being particularly fortunate in regard to the electric light and power situation. "Practically all the power is derived from nearby streams, which, of course, makes for cheap power," he said. "Several eastern manufacturers are opening branches there to take advantage of this situation."

"Canadian farmers are working under difficulties in doing business with this country, due to the Fordney Tariff act. This particularly affects the cattle raisers, in that it prohibits them from shipping cattle into this country to be fattened and sold. Mr. Booth expressed the opinion that something should be done to do away with this restriction, as Canada is one of our best customers."

Since 1849 every president elected in a year ending with zero has died in office! William Henry Harrison, elected in 1840, died a month after assuming the presidency; Abraham Lincoln, elected in 1860, assassinated 1865; James A. Garfield, elected in 1880, murdered in 1881; William McKinley, elected in 1896, shot by an anarchist in 1901, and Warren G. Harding, elected in 1920, died a natural death after two years and five months earnest service as chief magistrate.

We have had four chief executives whose last names began with H. William Henry Harrison, Rufus H. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison and Warren G. Harding. Not one of these men have had a second term and two have died in office. Is it fate?

CONFERENCE OF LEADING RE-PUBLICANS GATHERED IN PRESIDENTIAL SUITE

Temporary White House, Willard Hotel, Washington, Aug. 6: President Calvin Coolidge quietly today began construction of his "unofficial cabinet." After a conference with his most prominent friends within the republican party, Mr. Coolidge—realizing the inevitable necessity for action—began the formation of the new organization which will aid him in formulating new policies.

It was still emphasized, however, that no official step will be taken, no changes of any kind made, until after the period of mourning for Mr. Harding. The funeral arrangements are still uppermost in the president's mind, but the business of government must go on and Mr. Coolidge could not avoid the obligation of organizing his friends and advisors into an unofficial round table to give him their counsel in his great task.

Although the present regular cabinet which was appointed by Mr. Harding will continue temporarily at least at their posts, the new chief magistrate will, like all other presidents, also have his own friends advise him.

The movement gathered headway after a conference of leading Republicans who gathered in the presidential suite.

The political influence of Attorney-General Daugherty suffered an apparently insurmountable blow in the death of the president. Daugherty's health is weak, and he is in no condition to pick up the fragments of his office, and it is confidently expected here he will resign his post and retire to private life.

William Butler, Republican national committee, is being prominently mentioned as the leader of a new Coolidge faction. He is an attorney and close friends of Mr. Coolidge believe he will be appointed attorney-general. Then there is Frank W. Stearns, the Boston business man, who is already recognized as the power closest to the president. He is proprietor of a department store in Boston—and has been Mr. Coolidge's biggest booster for the last ten years. It was Stearns who brought Mr. Coolidge out for governor and advised his campaign in the last national election.

Stearns and his wife are in the suite next to the president on the third floor here. They met the president in New York and undoubtedly will continue close to him in Washington indefinitely.

Ben Feltz, advertising man of Boston, has been mentioned by some as a possible appointee to the post of presidential secretary. It is thought, however, that Edward T. Clark, now unofficial acting secretary, may continue.

James B. Reynolds, who was campaign manager for Mr. Coolidge in 1920, was included in the group of unofficial cabinet members. He is vice-president of a Washington bank and lives here.

Truly, Harding did a service to the state when he recognized the vice presidency, and added to it dignity, honor, service.

PLASTERERS' WAGES RAISED TO $14 A DAY IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Aug. 6.—The dearth of plasterers in this city has sent their wages up from $12 to $14 a day, Christian G. Norman, chairman of the board of governors of the Building Trades Employers' association, said today. Still dissatisfied, Mr. Norman declared, plasterers on several jobs have quit because they were not permitted to earn $19 a week by overtime and Sunday work.

WHOLESALE JAIL DELIVERY PLOT

TORY, 10 "HARD BOILED"
INMATES REMOVED

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 6.—An attempted jail break and riot was the reason state officials recently transferred ten men from the State Reformatory at St. Cloud to Stillwater. Despite efforts of the State Board of Control and institution heads to cover it up, it was learned today that a wholesale jail delivery plot was discovered.

One of the ten men transferred attempted to break out of the Reformatory and four others confessed the plot after other inmates of the Reformatory "squealed," according to E. J. Reugener, secretary to the warden.

First intimations of the plot came when deputy wardens found a coil of rope in one cell and disturbers started a small riot in the dining room by breaking dishes, attempting to stampede prison guards in much the same manner that a number of men escaped recently from the Illinois State Prison at Joliet.

When Francis Green, Eddie Gree and eight others were transferred, state officials merely announced it was "because the men had a bad influence over younger boys in the institution."

Five of the ten men transferred have criminal records, which were brought out in court, but their records did not become known until they acted unruly. Only first offenders are supposed to be sent to the reformatory.

Superintendent Vasaly again today denied that any disturbance had occurred. He said the men were transferred July 26 because they were "hard boiled."

EARL JOHNSON OF MINNEAPOLIS WAS KILLED SPEEDING

ACCOMPANYING HIM IN ANOTH-

CURO, OF JENKINS

BOTH MEN PILOTED CARS, IN-TERESTED IN SOUTH DA-KOTA SPEED EVENTS

Glenwood, Minn., Aug. 6.—Speeding home after driving for a season without serious mishap on county fair race tracks, Earl Johnson, aged 25, former Minneapolis resident, was killed when his racing car collided with another machine near here.

Johnson, who was employed in Minneapolis as an automobile mechanic until a year ago, was driving to Jenkins, Minn., from Webster, S. D., when the accident occurred. Accompanying him in another racing car was Dwight B. Curo, also of Jenkins. Both men were piloting the cars in which they participated in the speed events at various fairs in South Dakota.

Curo had taken the lead as they pulled out of Glenwood. He said they were driving fast because they wanted to reach Brainerd before dark, neither of the cars being equipped with lights.

A short distance from Glenwood as they shot over the crest of a hill, Curo said, he saw another car, driven by H. B. Bezanson, of Glenwood, approaching from the opposite direction. Curo passed Bezanson, but Johnson's car swung to the left and crashed headon into the approaching machine. Both cars were wrecked.

Johnson was unconscious when he was carried into the Glenwood hospital. He died an hour later. Bezanson was severely cut but not seriously hurt.

Johnson left the employ of the Snyder Auto company, 407 Tenth street S., a year ago to open a garage at Jenkins. He is survived by his wife.

Tourists in Minnesota Add to Telephone Load

(From Northwestern Bell, July 15)
The half million tourists who are visiting the Minnesota lake region this summer are greatly increasing telephone traffic, according to the chief operators, who began as long ago as last May to train a large force of extra operators.

Long distance calls for tourists who are enroute to the lakes by automobile, or who may be out in the middle of a lake fishing are not infrequent and tax the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the operators.

A typical vacation call handled recently by the Park Rapids chief operator, Miss Hazel Aleck, was from Tulsa, Okla., asking her to locate a Mr. Jones who was expected to pass through Park Rapids in an automobile on his way to the north lakes. Miss Aleck called the hotels and garages and asked them to stop any car they saw with an Oklahoma license plate and question the occupants about the whereabouts of Mr. Jones. Tourists in three cars were questioned before the surprised Mr. Jones was found and escorted to a long distance telephone.

Fridays and Saturdays are the busy days, when a rush of calls are received from the towns as people are arranging for week-end parties at the lakes.

During the summer months, there are from ten to ninety installations of telephones in every lake resort for city residents who have moved to their summer cottages. This equipment is used for only a few months out of the year, yet it is necessary for the convenience and safety of pleasure seekers.

Tourists spent $25,000,000 last summer in the Minnesota lake region according to the estimates of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association.

HE RECOGNIZED THE VICE PRESIDENT

One of the great acts of the late President Harding, now first realized in its true light, is the fact that he was the first president to make the vice president a member of his cabinet and to make of that office, in the past considered one of but minor importance, a department which submitted its advice and was also taken into the counsels at the cabinet chamber.

And now, when death has stricken Harding, the vice president steps into the highest position. Coolidge knows the plans of his former chief. He does not act blindly.

Coupled with his natural ability, exemplified as a governor of Massachusetts, the nation now possesses a president who has actively assisted his former chief in steering the ship of state, who takes the helm with full knowledge of the seas ahead, who knows the danger points as marked by Harding, who can continue the international policy, do his part in solving the domestic issues arising.

Truly, Harding did a service to the state when he recognized the vice presidency, and added to it dignity, honor, service.

(By United Press)

Temporary White House, Willard Hotel, Washington, Aug. 6: President Calvin Coolidge quietly today began construction of his "unofficial cabinet." After a conference with his most prominent friends within the republican party, Mr. Coolidge—realizing the inevitable necessity for action—began the formation of the new organization which will aid him in formulating new policies.

It was still emphasized, however, that no official step will be taken, no changes of any kind made, until after the period of mourning for Mr. Harding. The funeral arrangements are still uppermost in the president's mind, but the business of government must go on and Mr. Coolidge could not avoid the obligation of organizing his friends and advisors into an unofficial round table to give him their counsel in his great task.

Although the present regular cabinet which was appointed by Mr. Harding will continue temporarily at least at their posts, the new chief magistrate will, like all other presidents, also have his own friends advise him.

The movement gathered headway after a conference of leading Republicans who gathered in the presidential suite.

The political influence of Attorney-General Daugherty suffered an apparently insurmountable blow in the death of the president. Daugherty's health is weak, and he is in no condition to pick up the fragments of his office, and it is confidently expected here he will resign his post and retire to private life.

William Butler, Republican national committee, is being prominently mentioned as the leader of a new Coolidge faction. He is an attorney and close friends of Mr. Coolidge believe he will be appointed attorney-general. Then there is Frank W. Stearns, the Boston business man, who is already recognized as the power closest to the president. He is proprietor of a department store in Boston—and has been Mr. Coolidge's biggest booster for the last ten years. It was Stearns who brought Mr. Coolidge out for governor and advised his campaign in the last national election.

Stearns and his wife are in the suite next to the president on the third floor here. They met the president in New York and undoubtedly will continue close to him in Washington indefinitely.

Ben Felt, advertising man of Boston, has been mentioned by some as a possible appointee to the post of

New York, Aug. 6.—The dearth of plasterers in this city has sent their wages up from $12 to $14 a day, Christian G. Norman, chairman of the board of governors of the Building Trades Employers' association, said today. Still dissatisfied, Mr. Norman declared, plasterers on several jobs have quit because they were not permitted to earn $119 a week by overtime and Sunday work.

WHOLESALE JAIL DELIVERY PLOT

FAILED AT STATE REFORMA-
TORY, 10 "HARD BOILED"
INMATES REMOVED

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 6.—An attempted jail break and riot was the reason state officials recently transferred ten men from the State Reformatory at St. Cloud to Stillwater.

Despite efforts of the State Board of Control and institution heads to cover it up, it was learned today that a wholesale jail delivery plot was discovered.

One of the ten men transferred attempted to break out of the Reformatory and four others confessed the plot after other inmates of the Reformatory "squealed," according to E. J. Reugener, secretary to the warden.

First intimations of the plot came when deputy wardens found a coil of rope in one cell and disturbers started a small riot in the dining room by breaking dishes, attempting to stampede prison guards in much the same manner that a number of men escaped recently from the Illinois State Prison at Joliet.

When Francis Green, Eddie Green and eight others were transferred, state officials merely announced it was "because the men had a bad influence over younger boys in the institution."

Five of the ten men transferred have criminal records, which was brought out in court, but their records did not become known until they acted unruly. Only first offenders are supposed to be sent to the reformatory.

Superintendent Vasaly again today denied that any disturbance had occurred. He said the men were transferred July 26 because they were "hard boiled."

New York, Aug. 6.—Andrew J. Volstead, former representative from Minnesota and father of the federal prohibition enforcement law, sailed late today on the America for Copenhagen to attend the international congress against alcohol.

presidential secretary. It is thought, however, that Edward T. Clark, now unofficial acting secretary, may continue.

James B. Reynolds, who was campaign manager for Mr. Coolidge in 1920, was included in the group of unofficial cabinet members. He is vice-president of a Washington bank and lives here.

One of the great acts of the late President Harding, now first realized in its true light, is the fact that he was the first president to make the vice president a member of his cabinet and to make of that office, in the past considered one of but minor importance, a department which submitted its advice and was also taken into the counsels at the cabinet chamber.

And now, when death has stricken Harding, the vice president steps into the highest position. Coolidge knows the plans of his former chief. He does not act blindly.

Coupled with his natural ability, exemplified as a governor of Massachusetts, the nation now possesses a president who has actively assisted his former chief in steering the ship of state, who takes the helm with full knowledge of the seas ahead, who knows the danger points as marked by Harding, who can continue the international policy, do his part in solving the domestic issues arising.

Truly, Harding did a service to the state when he recognized the vice presidency, and added to it dignity, honor, service.

EARL JOHNSON OF MINNEAPOLIS WAS KILLED SPEEDING

ER CAR WAS DWIGHT B.
CURO, OF JENKINS

BOTH MEN PILOTED CARS, IN-TERESTED IN SOUTH DA-KOTA SPEED EVENTS

Glenwood, Minn., Aug. 6.—Speeding home after driving for a season without serious mishap on county fair race tracks, Earl Johnson, aged 25, former Minneapolis resident, was killed when his racing car collided with another machine near here. Johnson, who was employed in Minneapolis as an automobile mechanic until a year ago, was driving to Jenkins, Minn., from Webster, S. D., when the accident occurred. Accompanying him in another racing car was Dwight B. Curo, also of Jenkins. Both men were piloting the cars in which they participated in the speed events at various fairs in South Dakota.

Curo had taken the lead as they pulled out of Glenwood. He said they were driving fast because they wanted to reach Brainerd before dark, neither of the cars being equipped with lights.

A short distance from Glenwood as they shot over the crest of a hill, Curo said, he saw another car, driven by H. B. Bezanson, of Glenwood, approaching from the opposite direction. Curo passed Bezanson, but Johnson's car swung to the left and crashed headon into the approaching machine. Both cars were wrecked.

Johnson was unconscious when he was carried into the Glenwood hospital. He died an hour later. Bezanson was severely cut but not seriously hurt.

Johnson left the employ of the Snyder Auto company, 407 Tenth street S., a year ago to open a garage at Jenkins. He is survived by his wife.

Tourists in Minnesota Add to Telephone Load

The half million tourists who are visiting the Minnesota lake region this summer are greatly increasing telephone traffic, according to the chief operators, who began as long ago as last May to train a large force of extra operators.

Long distance calls for tourists who are enroute to the lakes by automobile, or who may be out in the middle of a lake fishing are not infrequent and tax the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the operators.

A typical vacation call handled recently by the Park Rapids chief operator, Miss Hazel Aleck, was from Tulsa, Okla., asking her to locate a Mr. Jones who was expected to pass through Park Rapids in an automobile on his way to the north lakes. Miss Aleck called the hotels and garages and asked them to stop any car they saw with an Oklahoma license plate and question the occupants about the whereabouts of Mr. Jones. Tourists in three cars were questioned before the surprised Mr. Jones was found and escorted to a long distance telephone.

Fridays and Saturdays are the busy days, when a rush of calls are received from the towns as people are arranging for week-end parties at the lakes.

During the summer months, there are from ten to ninety installations of telephones in every lake resort for city residents who have moved to their summer cottages. This equipment is used for only a few months out of the year, yet it is necessary for the convenience and safety of pleasure seekers.

Tourists spent $25,000,000 last summer in the Minnesota lake region according to the estimates of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association.

Girl a "Pathological Liar."

The charge of being a pathological liar, a variety not listed, up to date, in the board of estimate category, saved Miss Harriet Russell, twenty-seven years old, of the Bronx, from anything worse than a suspended sentence for grand larceny, the New York Herald reports.

Judge Morris Koenig, in general sessions, was told that it was because she has a "pathological liar" that Miss Russell had been dropped as a student from several colleges; had procured teachers' papers, after failing to pass, by pretending to be another Miss Russell, a Wellesley graduate; had undertaken to teach the children of a man socially prominent; and, finally, had obtained $2,000 in goods from a department store, by representing herself as the wife of this father of her pupils at Tuxedo, N. Y. Even in childhood, Miss Mabel E. Sprague, probation officer, told the court, Miss Russell was noted for "fibbing," and physicians, after an examination, said that she suffered from a peculiar mental ailment.

this car were lighted from within, but still it was as though everything within was graven, so motionless were the guards bowed over the rifles around the flag-draped casket.

TRAIN PASSES
THROUGH TAMA

Tama, Iowa, Aug. 6.—The train carrying the body of Warren G. Harding was still running about 30 minutes late as it passed through here at 8:51 a. m. today.

STORMS HAVE
SLACKENED SPEED

Belle Plaine, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Storms that slackened the speed of the train in Nebraska and western Iowa, were left behind when the Warren G. Harding funeral special passed through Belle Plaine at 9:12 a. m., running in the sunlight only 27 minutes late.

PASSED THROUGH
MOUNT VERNON, IOWA

Mount Vernon, Ia., Aug. 6.—The Harding funeral train passed thru here at 10:41 a. m.

CROWDS THROG
RAILWAY STATIONS

Calamus, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Great crowds who thronged stations and railroad yards further delayed the President Harding funeral train in eastern Iowa today.

The special passed through here at 11:38 a. m., more than 40 minutes late. At every station hundreds flocked to watch the train go by.

GREAT HEART OF
MIDDLE WEST

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 6.—The great heart of the middle west pulsed in sympathy and sorrow today as the train bearing home the body of the late President Harding flashed by countless small stations in Iowa.

All through the night and day as the train maintained a terrific speed on its way across the state people stood along the tracks in long lines composed of men, women and children.

If ever America's heart was laid bare, it has been in the days of this first transcontinental funeral trip of its kind.

People who stay up all night to watch the train as it flashed by at 60 miles an hour are animated by more than mere curiosity. It was nearly 3 a. m. when the train got into Omaha, but there was a vast strong stretching away into the dark shadows of the night. And then as the train crossed into Iowa there were smaller groups whose faces swept by a blur as the train, trying to make up lost time, made the rails ring with its furious speed.

Some members of the party were unable to sleep because of the terrific speed, remembering the near-wreck at Chappelle, Neb. They feared some mishap, but nothing happened except the continued passing of those blurred groups of faces in the light of little roadside stations—blurred faces and a flash of color as the flag was passed. Everywhere the flag was in evidence, bound with a mourning band of crepe.

Another man sits in Washington, but Warren G. Harding is still president out here.

And so as daylight came they gathered in ever increasing numbers—at Boone, Ames, Marshalltown, Tama and at little places in between, where the train rushed past so rapidly that the name of the station was indistinguishable.

Farmers paused in the field and took off their broad straw hats with reverent gesture. Tomorrow they may find it necessary to criticize the government, but today the dead president was passing by.

The train is now running behind schedule, in spite of every effort to catch up. Here in Cedar Rapids the usual silent ceremonies were repeated—more flowers to be placed within the funeral car, where the guard of honor now stands knee-deep in blooms and the air is drugged with the fragrance of wreaths and bouquets. Mrs. Harding remained secluded in her stateroom.

It is just like life—the passing of this train, the pulling into a station and pausing for a few minutes among new faces, and then it goes on to other towns and other faces, pushing always restlessly toward that final goal, which for the silent

SPECIAL TO MEET
FUNERAL TRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 6.—A special train bearing Dr. Carl Sawyer and Dr. Geo. T. Harding, Jr., brother of the late president, left here today over the Chicago & Northwestern railroad to meet the eastward speeding funeral train.

Sawyer and Harding will meet Mrs. Harding at Sterling, Illinois, and consult with her regarding details of the funeral at Marion, Ohio, next Friday.

CLINTON, IA., 12:27 P. M.

Clinton, Iowa, Aug. 6.—The special train bearing the body of Warren G. Harding back to Washington passed through Clinton at 12:27 p. m. today, 47 minutes late.

16,000 PEOPLE
AT MORRISON, ILLINOIS

Morrison, Ill., Aug. 6.—Sixteen thousand persons crowded Morrison, whose population barely reaches 5,000, as the Warren G. Harding funeral train passed through at 1:09 p. m. today.

The train was 59 minutes late. Chicago & Northwestern officials having ordered that it run not faster than 40 miles an hour between

To Relieve Canaries of Vermin. Canary birds are often covered with vermin. They may be relieved of them by placing a clean white cloth over their cage at night. In the morning the cloth will be covered with minute red spots so small that they can hardly be seen with the naked eye. These are the parasites, a source of great annoyance to the birds.

Records in Thinness. Platinum wire has been drawn so fine that 30,000 pieces side by side would not cover more than an inch, while 150 pieces bound together would form a thread as thick as a filament of raw silk.

GRANDMA USED SAGE
TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Mixed Sulphur With It to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advt.

Seat covers lend an air of distinction to the car besides rendering a genuinely real service for OPEN or CLOSED cars. They protect the expensive upholstery—or, when this is worn, completely covers its shabbiness and makes the car look infinitely better. Made to fit perfectly. Moderate charges. Is Money Ever "Spent"
for Advertising?

A young and energetic executive took hold of a fine old retail business in New York.

"What this business needs," he told himself, "is a place in the mind of the public."

And deliberately he set out to sacrifice the greater volume of his profits and invest the sacrifice into the building of goodwill.

He did. And to this old business, advertising was the breath of life.

For six months had not passed before the business had grown so that the advertising cost was a smaller percentage than ever it had been, and, because of a larger volume, the shop effected economies and gave far superior service.

That was five years ago. Today a certain percentage is spent, or supposed to be spent, for advertising. But as fast as the appropriation is spent, the more the business increases; and the more that the business increases, the smaller the percentage becomes.

BERNARD SHAW AND GOVERNMENT BY EXPERTS

WHEN Bernard Shaw appeared before American professors and students who were visiting in England, to tell them that pure democracy will not function efficiently and that the people must be compelled to choose experts for parliamentary positions, he was sufficiently inconsistent to be interesting. The speaker had previously, in one of his books, told the world what he thinks about experts in the medical profession and what he said about them would not lead the people to place themselves under the care of specialists who would invade the human system exploring for unseen things.

Bernard Shaw can afford to be inconsistent, and his attitude towards consistency proves that he considers it the glory of small minds. Therefore, when he spoke to the Americans, it is not surprising that he reversed himself in considering the advantages of engaging specialists, and proclaimed that the people will not be well governed until their choice of representatives for parliaments and congresses is restricted, so that only those who are found qualified will be elected to make the laws of the nations. In taking this position the speaker said that it is just as sensible to claim that plays should be written by the people for the people as it is to affirm that government should be for the people. He admitted that government should be for the people, but not by the people. Experts, he believes, are needed to govern; men who are specially qualified and "Unless you get those men," he said, "you are going to make an extraordinary mess of it."

Bernard Shaw would have three panels from which congressmen or members of parliament would be chosen. In the first of these would be such men as are qualified to deal with foreign policy and finance; in the second those who are qualified to attend to home affairs, who would be the personnel of the parliament; and third, those able to deal with municipal business. The status of these would be determined by some kind of a test committee which would pass upon the qualifications of the candidate.

The speaker made an important point when he said that the quality of the personnel of the labor party will deteriorate with passing time. He suggested that the best men are defeated in elections which strain out "the honest and able men." He affirmed that the strength of the personnel of the labor party is due to the fact that the men in this party have studied questions and have strong convictions, but, that later, when the men in the labor party are in it because their fathers belonged to it, there will be a mediocrity similar to that found in the other parties.

It will be admitted by most men who have studied the political history of democracies that the quality of the membership in the parliaments of this age is not equal to that of past days. The men who represent the people in governments for the people are not men who have studied the serious problems that confront governments. It may be dangerous, as time will prove, to trust the foreign policy of the United States to senators who know little or nothing about foreign affairs and who, in many cases, are all the more assertive because of their limitation of knowledge. Unless the people elect men, not because of their ability to proclaim that all is wrong, but because they have something to say about what must be done to right the wrongs, the people will "make an extraordinary mess of it."

LLOYD GEORGE DISMISSES FOURTEEN POINTS

LLOYD GEORGE has been insisting that there must be some revision of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. Occasionally, he says things that would lead to the belief that he is ready to admit that mistakes were made in the peace conference. His attitude to European affairs during recent months shows that he has been compelled to reconsider many of the decisions of the conference. In that conference Lloyd George was not entirely free; he was bound by the pledges made to his people in the heat of an election campaign.

A short time ago at Oxford, during the heat of a debate, the ex-premier said something that shocked England. This was his statement: "Marshal Foch presented the terms to Germany, and there was not a word about the fourteen points. Any claim we chose to put in Germany was prepared to accept, and she signed the armistice on those terms. There was not a word on the fourteen points in the treaty on which they laid down their arms."

To claim that at the time when the Germans laid down their arms they did so without reference to any negotiations of past months is playing fast and loose with facts. The Fourteen Points had already been accepted by the allies as the basis for ending the war as the treaty declares. The trouble with Europe today is that leaders are not ready to be frank, honest, and true to principles which are not in line with the policies they favor. Germany repudiated her pledges, France violated the provisions of the peace treaty by entering the Ruhr, and Lloyd George winks at facts in defending his policies.

ELECTORAL REFORM IN ITALY

STRANGE things have been happening in Italy since the World war disturbed the life of that country. The world was impressed when the "black shirts" rallied to Mussolini and captured the government of Italy and it has been more impressed by the satisfactory progress that has been made by the new order. The present government went in backed by force and the leader of the fascisti has not been shy about announcing that if necessary force would be employed to perpetuate it.

With 16 political divisions in Italy the present government is not any too secure when the people vote on its policies and record. Therefore, for its protection it became necessary to consider electoral reform, and a unique plan is before the deputies and is likely to be forced through. Liberals cannot quite understand why such a plan should be considered and some of them are asking if Mussolini has more wisdom than the rest of the world that he should initiate a political system so different from any that has been employed anywhere. This proposal would give two-thirds of the seats in the house of representatives to the party gaining the largest total in a national election, irrespective of whether that total represented two-thirds of the vote cast. Because of the many parties appealing to the people no party could conceivably get two-thirds of the votes cast, but however far, even from a majority of the vote cast, the vote given the winning party might be that party would have two-thirds of the seats in the house of deputies. The tenure of office of this party would be four years and with a two-thirds majority it ought to have an almost untroubled course.

There is one thing to be said for such a system that cannot always be claimed for governments in advanced countries: The party in power will be able to carry on, and its program will not be overthrown by a minority sufficiently strong to block progress in legislation. While it may be unique it is practical.

PRIVATE OPINIONS AND PUBLIC QUESTIONS

THERE is an old proverb that runs something like this: He who would bring back the wealth of the Indies must take the wealth of the Indies with him. There is a great deal of wisdom in this saying. The reader of a book or the hearer of a speech or the visitor in a foreign land returns from reading the book, listening to the speech or visiting another country, with his own opinion confirmed. What does not confirm his own opinion he casts aside and forgets.

This is clearly illustrated by the return of our American politicians who have visited Europe during this summer. Up to date there has not been a case of a senator who has gone over returning with an opinion differing from the one he held when he went over. Each in turn has returned to tell the American people that his opinion was confirmed by what he saw. If he was in favor of the League of Nations his visit strengthened his stand, if he was opposed to it his visit confirmed his opposition, if he believed that the Soviet government in Russia was all right he found it to be all right, and if he was convinced that it was all wrong he came back to proclaim that it was all wrong.

The inevitable result of this will be that the United States will be flooded with oratory, and the orators will be saying, to clinch their viewpoint: I was over there and the visit confirmed my opinion. Just how much an opinion is worth that is formed on a visit extending over a few weeks will have to be decided by the listeners who, unfortunately, will attend to that which confirms their own viewpoint.

POINCARÉ keeps his hold on the French people by an appeal to their fiery nationalism. Lloyd George made a similar appeal just after the war, but he has fallen, and, according to present indications, his past attitude is mitigating against his usefulness today.

HENRY FORD says that he isn't a political mind, and that is sufficient to disqualify him as a candidate for the presidency. A president must be a politician though it might be better for the country if he didn't.

AL JOLSON is back from England, and upon returning he proclaims that he is still an American, despite the fact that he wears an English derby, sports a monocle and carries a cane.

AT Ludington, Michigan, where the blue laws were to be enforced, nothing was done about it. The prosecuting attorney simply wouldn't break the blue laws by working on Sunday.

CANADA appreciated President Harding's visit and felt more kindly disposed towards him because he is not a superman. Common folks don't take to supermen; they're too "cold."

WHEN Bernard Shaw appeared before American professors and students who were visiting in England, to tell them that pure democracy will not function efficiently and that the people must be compelled to choose experts for parliamentary positions, he was sufficiently inconsistent to be interesting. The speaker had previously, in one of his books, told the world what he thinks about experts in the medical profession and what he said about them would not lead the people to place themselves under the care of specialists who would invade the human system exploring for unseen things.

Bernard Shaw can afford to be inconsistent, and his attitude towards consistency proves that he considers it the glory of small minds. Therefore, when he spoke to the Americans, it is not surprising that he reversed himself in considering the advantages of engaging specialists, and proclaimed that the people will not be well governed until their choice of representatives for parliaments and congresses is restricted, so that only those who are found qualified will be elected to make the laws of the nations. In taking this position the speaker said that it is just as sensible to claim that plays should be written by the people for the people as it is to affirm that government should be by the people. He admitted that government should be for the people, but not by the people. Experts, he believes, are needed to govern; men who are specially qualified and "Unless you get those men," he said, "you are going to make an extraordinary mess of it."

Bernard Shaw would have three panels from which congressmen or members of parliament would be chosen. In the first of these would be such men as are qualified to deal with foreign policy and finance; in the second those who are qualified to attend to home affairs, who would be the personnel of the parliament; and third, those able to deal with municipal business. The status of these would be determined by some kind of a test committee which would pass upon the qualifications of the candidate.

The speaker made an important point when he said that the quality of the personnel of the labor party will deteriorate with passing time. He suggested that the best men are defeated in elections which strain out "the honest and able men." He affirmed that the strength of the personnel of the labor party is due to the fact that the men in this party have studied questions and have strong convictions, but, that later, when the men in the labor party are in it because their fathers belonged to it, there will be a mediocrity similar to that found in the other parties.

It will be admitted by most men who have studied the political history of democracies that the quality of the membership in the parliaments of this age is not equal to that of past days. The men who represent the people in governments for the people are not men who have studied the serious problems that confront governments. It may be dangerous, as time will prove, to trust the foreign policy of the United States to senators who know little or nothing about foreign affairs and who, in many cases, are all the more assertive because of their limitation of knowledge. Unless the people elect men, not because of their ability to proclaim that all is wrong, but because they have something to say about what must be done to right the wrongs, the people will "make an extraordinary mess of it."

LLOYD GEORGE has been insisting that there must be some revision of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. Occasionally, he says things that would lead to the belief that he is ready to admit that mistakes were made in the peace conference. His attitude to European affairs during recent months shows that he has been compelled to reconsider many of the decisions of the conference. In that conference Lloyd George was not entirely free; he was bound by the pledges made to his people in the heat of an election campaign.

A short time ago at Oxford, during the heat of a debate, the ex-premier said something that shocked England. This was his statement: "Marshal Foch presented the terms to Germany, and there was not a word about the fourteen points. Any claim we chose to put in Germany was prepared to accept, and she signed the armistice on those terms. There was not a word on the fourteen points in the treaty on which they laid down their arms."

Just how far this is from the truth may be seen in the official copy of the peace treaty which shows that the allies had agreed that the "Treaty of Peace should be based on the Fourteen Points of President Wilson's address of January 8, 1918, as they were modified by the Allies' memorandum included in the President's Note of November 5, 1918, and particularly in his address of September 27, 1918. These are the principles upon which hostilities were abandoned in November, 1918."

To claim that at the time when the Germans laid down their arms they did so without reference to any negotiations of past months is playing fast and loose with facts. The Fourteen Points had already been accepted by the allies as the basis for ending the war as the treaty declares. The trouble with Europe today is that leaders are not ready to be frank, honest, and true to principles which are not in line with the policies they favor. Germany repudiated her pledges, France violated the provisions of the peace treaty by entering the Ruhr, and Lloyd George winks at facts in defending his policies.

STRANGE things have been happening in Italy since the World war disturbed the life of that country. The world was impressed when the "black shirts" rallied to Mussolini and captured the government of Italy and it has been more impressed by the satisfactory progress that has been made by the new order. The present government went in backed by force and the leader of the fascisti has not been shy about announcing that if necessary force would be employed to perpetuate it.

With 16 political divisions in Italy the present government is not any too secure when the people vote on its policies and record. Therefore, for its protection it became necessary to consider electoral reform, and a unique plan is before the deputies and is likely to be forced through. Liberals cannot quite understand why such a plan should be considered and some of them are asking if Mussolini has more wisdom than the rest of the world that he should initiate a political system so different from any that has been employed anywhere. This proposal would give two-thirds of the seats in the house of representatives to the party gaining the largest total in a national election, irrespective of whether that total represented two-thirds of the vote cast. Because of the many parties appealing to the people no party could conceivably get two-thirds of the votes cast, but however far, even from a majority of the vote cast, the vote given the winning party might be that party would have two-thirds of the seats in the house of deputies. The tenure of office of this party would be four years and with a two-thirds majority it ought to have an almost untroubled course.

There is one thing to be said for such a system that cannot always be claimed for governments in advanced countries: The party in power will be able to carry on, and its program will not be overthrown by a minority sufficiently strong to block progress in legislation. While it may be unique it is practical.

THERE is an old proverb that runs something like this: He who would bring back the wealth of the Indies must take the wealth of the Indies with him. There is a great deal of wisdom in this saying. The reader of a book or the hearer of a speech or the visitor in a foreign land returns from reading the book, listening to the speech or visiting another country, with his own opinion confirmed. What does not confirm his own opinion he casts aside and forgets.

This is clearly illustrated by the return of our American politicians who have visited Europe during this summer. Up to date there has not been a case of a senator who has gone over returning with an opinion differing from the one he held when he went over. Each in turn has returned to tell the American people that his opinion was confirmed by what he saw. If he was in favor of the League of Nations his visit strengthened his stand, if he was opposed to it his visit confirmed his opposition, if he believed that the Soviet government in Russia was all right he found it to be all right, and if he was convinced that it was all wrong he came back to proclaim that it was all wrong.

The inevitable result of this will be that the United States will be flooded with oratory, and the orators will be saying, to clinch their viewpoint: I was over there and the visit confirmed my opinion. Just how much an opinion is worth that is formed on a visit extending over a few weeks will have to be decided by the listeners who, unfortunately, will attend to that which confirms their own viewpoint.

POINCARÉ keeps his hold on the French people by an appeal to their fiery nationalism. Lloyd George made a similar appeal just after the war, but he has fallen, and, according to present indications, his past attitude is mitigating against his usefulness today.

HENRY FORD says that he isn't a political mind, and that is sufficient to disqualify him as a candidate for the presidency. A president must be a politician though it might be better for the country if he didn't.

AL JOLSON is back from England, and upon returning he proclaims that he is still an American, despite the fact that he wears an English derby, sports a monocle and carries a cane.

At Ludington, Michigan, where the blue laws were to be enforced, nothing was done about it. The prosecuting attorney simply wouldn't break the blue laws by working on Sunday.

CANADA appreciated President Harding's visit and felt more kindly disposed towards him because he is not a superman. Common folks don't take to supermen; they're too "cold."

WRITERS say that American women are losing their good looks through exercising too strenuously. They must beware for, after all, men are often attracted by good looks.

THE war speeded up air travel but it slowed down the railroads. In England the run from London to Manchester still requires two more minutes than it took in 1914.

EUROPEAN dressmakers say that American ladies dress well but that they all look alike. Well, isn't a lot of good-looking similarity better than patches of distinction?

IRENE CASTLE TREMAINE says that she hasn't secured a divorce. The affairs of this popular dancer seem to be veiled in mystery.

THE property of the Pan Motor company in St. Cloud went under the hammer. The company has had a troubled career.

THE German cabinet must have a long way to fall, for, according to reports, it has been falling for some time.

THERE is a labor shortage in the United States today and labor is making hay while the sun shines.

A SONG has been written in 20 minutes and, possibly, it is as high class as the banana song.

TO IMPROVE ROAD TO PELICAN LAKE

To be Held Wednesday, Thursday,
Friday, August 29, 30 and 31
at Pequot

EARLY DATES TO AVOID RAIN

One of Big Features Will be the Attractive Evening Programs

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,
August 29th, 30th and 31st, have
been selected as the dates for the
seventeenth annual Crow Wing
county fair, to be held, as usual at Pequot.

These early dates were chosen
by the directors to avoid the rainy season, which has put a damper on
the program on a number of occasions when the fair was held in September.

One of the big features of the
county fair this year will be its evening programs, to be held on the first
two nights of the exhibition. For the first time in the history of the
fair, a big evening entertainment has
been prepared, and should be the
means of drawing large crowds that otherwise could not attend. If the sessions were held only in the afternoons.

The evening programs were arranged with one idea in mind, that
of giving Brainerd office and shop
people an opportunity of attending
the fair, viewing the regular exhibits and in addition witnessing a
big special feature in the form of
beautiful fireworks, on Wednesday
and Thursday.

This is an ideal combination of
everything that is really good, both
from an educational and amusement
standpoint. Every type of modern fireworks device, the newest pyro-
technic sensations of the country,
will be included. There will be
aerial effects, ground devices, set
pieces, miniature spectacles, portraits
of famous men and many other unusual numbers. The big feature of Wednesday evening's program will
be "Mystic China" and on Thursday
night, "The Battle of Verdun," two
pieces which caused such a sensation
at the Minnesota state fair.

A new lighting system on the
grounds will give the evening visitors
an opportunity of viewing all of the
exhibits to the best advantage in addition to witnessing the fireworks.
A small charge of 30c will be made
for the evening admissions.

The directors do not wish to give
the impression that the afternoon
programs have been robbed in order
to feature the evening entertainments. Far from it. The afternoon sessions are replete with good
things, including horse races, ball-
games, sports and music.

Among the sports will be the old
time greased pig, and for the ladies
a chicken catch, bringing back the
old fashioned fairs of fifty years ago.

Over two thousand dollars will be given in premiums this year, in the
various departments which have been featured in previous fairs. Because of the early dates, farmers will be allowed to display corn and threshed
grains of last year's crop. Pumpkins,
squash and other garden vegetables
will be judged as to the condition in
which they should be at this season
of the year, and not as they would
be judged a month later.

The directors state that the fair
this year, as outlined, will provide
an ideal outing for grownups and children. It will combine just the proper balance of education and
entertainment, and should draw a
much bigger attendance than in any
season past.

The officers of the fair association
are president, D. D. Schrader, vice president, L. H. Dudgeon, secretary,
A. C. Larson, treasurer, M. C. Ander-
son. On the board of directors in addition to the above officers, are W.
A. M. Johnstone, E. P. Scallon and
C. E. Rodean.

Northwestern Hospital Society
The regular monthly business session of the Northwestern Hospital
Health Service Society, will be held
on Tuesday afternoon, August 7th,
at 3 o'clock. All members are urged to attend, and friends are always welcome.

R. R. Wise Entertains
A party was entertained Sunday at
the lake cottage of R. R. Wise.
Chicken a la Russian, which is
swifter than the American style, and
other equally delectable articles of
food made an attractive menu, and
a good time was enjoyed by all.

Absolutely.
The only sure things in life are those that have already happened.—Boston

TO CLOSE STORES IN FUNERAL HOUR

The Dispatch learns upon inquiry
from the United Press offices at St.
Paul that preparations are being made to close all stores in that city
during the hour of the funeral of President Harding Friday.

FROM REV. A. PAULSON

Brainerd Minister Writes From
Gothenburg, Sweden, of Trip
Abroad

Gothenburg, Sweden, July 16
Editor Brainerd Daily Dispatch:
My friends in Brainerd and
especially the people of my congregation will be interested to read in
your valuable paper a greeting from a "tenderfoot abroad." Have had a most enjoyable trip across the Atlantic.

Spent Sunday, July first in Clevel-
and, with our church there, of
which I was the pastor some years
ago. Cleveland is a most beautiful
city with a population of 1,000,000
if the suburbs are included. It is now the fifth city of the United States
and next to Detroit the fastest growing city in the world.

Arrived in the western metropolis
New York, July 3rd. The Grand
Central station here is a marvel.
At 3 o'clock the same day the
"Stockholm" swung out in the North
River and as we viewed the sky-
scrapers against the sky line of
Manhattan on one side and the
Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island
on the other we passed on to the
open sea.

Had an unusually pleasant journey across, not enough storm for 10 days to make anyone seasick. On the eighth day there was land in
sight and every passenger on deck,
viewing the northern part of Scott-
land and the Orkney Islands. Have spent two days in Gothenburg and
seen part of the Tercentennial Exposition. For a city in the old world Gothenburg has grown wonderfully and has doubled its population in the last twenty years having now 230,000. The exposition is
a revelation of wonderful progress
and is drawing a stream of tourists
from America, Great Britain and
other countries.

I will go to Stockholm tomorrow
as the time for the Baptist World
Congress is drawing night. On the steamer we were 45 delegates to this
great convention and they are arriving on every boat and from every direction.

It is a most wonderful experience
to me to see the country of my birth
once more, but I am also sure I shall
return to the country of my adoption
more contented to live and labor
there.

Yours very truly,
A. Paulson

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Still Found in Possession of C. J.
Anderson, Dean Lake Township
Ordered Destroyed

In municipal court Monday morning Louis Danielson plead guilty to a charge of intoxication and paid a fine of $25.

On Saturday C. J. Anderson, residing in Dean Lake township, plead guilty of maintaining a nuisance,
and was fined $100 or 90 days in jail. A stay of sentence until Sept.
1st was granted on $150 bonds.

A complete still found in Anderson's possession was ordered destroyed.

Joy of the Work.

On the lower levels there is no
adaptation; our selfish desires are at odds with nature, we are out for a
good time and get no response; . . .
but the keynote of the higher level is
joy—the joy of the laborer who has
found his work, of the lover who has
seen his object, of the hero who has
received his commission.—L. P. Jacks.

Feared for the Earth.

It was in the midst of a nose dive
and Reginald, who was making his
first flight, tugged frantically at the
pilot's sleeve. "We better get away
from here," he shrieked, "the earth's
swelling up like a balloon and it's
liable to burst any minute."

Dark Rings Under Eyes

hazel, hydrastis, etc., as mixed in tion is surprising. Eye cup free.

17TH ANNUAL CO. FAIR SOON

Concentrated Effort Being Made to Secure the Necessary
Funds

SUMMER RESIDENTS TO HELP

Townships May Donate, County to Aid, Con O'Brien's Aid Also
Enlisted

A concentrated effort is being made to secure funds with which to
improve the road running north
from Merrifield to Pelican lake,
thence around the south and west
end of the lake toward Breezy Point.
Summer residents along this portion of Pelican lake intend to raise $300. It is hoped to get the townships of Lake Edward and Pelican
to each donate $200, and Mayor Con
O'Brien has taken upon his shoulders
the responsibility of raising $500, it
is said.

At the meeting of the county commissioners held Saturday at the court house, it was decided to give
$1,000 toward this road, provided
the above $1,200 is raised. This would make a fund of $2,200 with
which to improve, what is known
locally as the "Inland Passage," a
road much favored for travel from
points on Pelican lake to Brainerd,
and shorter than any other highways
by seven or eight miles.

The Brainerd Civic and Commerce
Association fostered this movement
last year and through its efforts
some money was expended and some
improvements made.

At the Saturday meeting of the
commissioners, the county auditor
was instructed to advertise for bids
for the building of one and a quarter
miles of highway in sections 16 and 17, township 136, range 28.

The contract for a sidewalk along
the east line of the court house
grounds on Fifth street, was awarded to Thompson Brothers, and Claus-
sen.

Fenstermacher-Veillette

On last Tuesday occurred the wedding of A. Ray Fenstermacher to Miss Obeline Veillette, the ceremony
being performed by Father Tertoo-
gen at the Catholic parsonage in St.
Mathias. Mr. and Mrs. L. Savage of Minneapolis accompanied the contracting parties.

The bride wore a gown of blue
canton crepe and carried sweet peas.
Mrs. Savage also was attired in blue
canton crepe and carried sweet peas
and ferns.

Following the ceremony the bridal party came to Brainerd, where a
wedding breakfast was served at the
home of the bride's brother, Albert
Veillette. The newlyweds spent
their honeymoon in a motor trip to Itasca park.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Veillette, of St.
Mathias, and is well and favorable
known in that section of the county.
The groom is the son of Elias Fen-
stermacher of Northeast Brainerd.
He is employed at the Northwest
Paper Mill.

The Dispatch joins the many
friends of this estimable young
couple in offering congratulations
and best wishes.

CHAUFFEUR'S LICENSE

State Law on Subject, Necessity of Having One in Order to Operate
Car for Another

Chief of Police Harry O. Gaskill
calls attention to the state law
which requires any person operating or driving a motor vehicle other
than his own, as an employee, must
procure a chauffeur's license.

Secretary of State Mike Holm, in
correspondence with Chief Gaskill,
states that regular examinations for
these licenses are held in St. Paul
only, but says further that if enough
applications can be secured in and
around Brainerd, a special examination will be held here.

All persons, knowing themselves
to come under this law, and who
have not already secured the required licenses, are asked to get in touch with Chief Gaskill at once, so
that the exact number can be ascertained and plans made accordingly
for the examination.

In my last letter I told you something of the dresses selected for our store. In this letter I wish to have your attention as I tell you something of the coats you will find in our garment section this fall.

Of course, you will at once say what are the styles, are the materials pretty and how are they trimmed and lined.

In a general way they are similar to last year's styles, altho full in length. Of course, the Bolivias and similar materials are still in fore in better coats. Some plushes are shown in crushed designs, but they seem to be little in favor. The materials in the less expensive garments has changed little.

Fur is used extensively in collars. Perhaps there is more Manchurian wolf shown on the popular priced coats than any other altho the opossum makes a very attractive collar and there are still some racoon shown.
Beaver is much used on the better coats, particularly on the brown, and fox and wolf are always a favorite on good garments.

There is not much change in colorings. Kit fox, a very pretty shade of grey, is much in favor and bids fair to continue throughout the entire season.

There are less belts shown on coats than there have been. The tendency in all garments is towards a more fitted garment. However, some very clever models of belted coats have been produced as they are always favorites.

The junior girl will have a wide selection this year and doubtless will be delighted. The absence of belts on junior models permits the styles of trimming in which the miss delights in.

We have always shown pretty junior models in the "Peggy Paris"
styles and I was able to select some most attractive sport models which I am sure will please.

The coats purchased are now being made up and some will be delivered by Aug. 15th to 25th for those who will go away to school to select from.

I have every confidence that our garments will delight our patrons and shall be happy when we can announce that they are ready to be seen.

Very truly yours,

H. Michael

Organization of county caravans to move en masse upon the Northwest
Dairy Exposition the week of September 1, is in process all over the state of Minnesota and the Northwest, recent reports indicate.

At the same time, excursion trains
are being arranged on many railroads, and designated as the Northwest Dairy Exposition trains. They will start from north, east, west, and south, early in the morning, and gather delegations all along the route for the Exposition.

Distance seems to be no deterrent to interest. Folks who live in Beltrami county are 265 miles away from the great Exposition as the crow flies. But they are coming in their own caravan, Earle A. Barker,
of Bemidji, reported this week.
Many other county delegations are ready.

"Million Dollar Dairy Counties"
have swelled the list of counties
sending exhibits to the Exposition
and Minnesota State Fair, R. F. Hall, secretary of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs, reported.
Forty counties will be represented
this year as compared with 16 last year. The Million Dollar Dairy counties are: Blue Earth, value of dairy products, $1,333,553; Carver,
$1,876,247; Chicago, $1,237,526;

Dakota, $1,043,046; Polk, $1,466,-

$1,510,307; Stearns, $2,587,744;
Pine, $1,350,279; Wright, $2,115,- 180.

Other counties that are rapidly
developing into the million dollar
class, which are coming with exhibits, are: Becker, value of dairy products, $877,708; Isanti, $781,000
Anoka, $847,414; Benton, $725,536;
Kenabec, $741,535; Martin, $774,- $719,000; and Renville, $937,000.

Formal arrangements for County exhibits are expected from many other counties.

Just as county exhibits have been greatly increased this year, so have county lists entering boys' and girls'
club contestants. T. A. Erickson,
State leader, stated this week that 60 counties, as compared with 40 last year, will have first and second prize winners at the great Exposition.
This means that 120 purebred calves
will be exhibited and will compete for the $1,500 premiums.

TO IMPROVE ROAD TO PELICAN LAKE

To be Held Wednesday, Thursday,
Friday, August 29, 30 and 31
at Pequot

EARLY DATES TO AVOID RAIN
One of Big Features Will be the
grams

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,
August 29th, 30th and 31st, have
been selected as the dates for the
seventeenth annual Crow Wing
county Fair, to be held, as usual at Pequot.

These early dates were chosen
by the directors to avoid the rainy
season, which has put a damper on
the program on a number of occasions when the fair was held in September.

One of the big features of the
county fair this year will be its evening programs, to be held on the first
two nights of the exhibition. For
the first time in the history of the
fair, a big evening entertainment has
been prepared, and should be the
means of drawing large crowds that
otherwise could not attend if the
sessions were held only in the afternoons.

The evening programs were arranged with one idea in mind, that
of giving Brainerd office and shop
people an opportunity of attending
the fair, viewing the regular exhibits and in addition witnessing a
big special feature in the form of
beautiful fireworks, on Wednesday
and Thursday.

This is an ideal combination of
everything that is really good, both
from an educational and amusement
standpoint. Every type of modern
fireworks device, the newest pyro-
technic sensations of the country,
will be included. There will be
aerial effects, ground devices, set
pieces, miniature spectacles, portraits
of famous men and many other unusual numbers. The big feature of Wednesday evening's program will
be "Mystic China" and on Thursday
night, "The Battle of Verdun," two
pieces which caused such a sensation
at the Minnesota state fair.

A new lighting system on the
grounds will give the evening visitors
an opportunity of viewing all of the
exhibits to the best advantage in addition to witnessing the fireworks.
A small charge of 30c will be made
for the evening admissions.

The directors do not wish to give
the impression that the afternoon
programs have been robbed in order
to feature the evening entertain-
ments. Far from it. The afternoon sessions are replete with good
things, including horse races, ball-
games, sports and music.

Among the sports will be ye old
time greased pig, and for the ladies
a chicken catch, bringing back the
old fashioned fairs of fifty years ago.

Over two thousand dollars will be
given in premiums this year, in the
various departments which have been
featured in previous fairs. Because
of the early dates, farmers will be
allowed to display corn and threshed
grains of last year's crop. Pumpkins,
squash and other garden vegetables
will be judged as to the condition in
which they should be at this season
of the year, and not as they would
be judged a month later.

The directors state that the fair
this year, as outlined, will provide
an ideal outing for grownups and
children. It will combine just the
proper balance of education and
entertainment, and should draw a
much bigger attendance than in any
season past.

The officers of the fair association
are president, D. D. Schrader, vice president, L. H. Dudgeon, secretary,
A. C. Larson, treasurer, M. C. Ander-
son. On the board of directors in addition to the above officers, are W.
A. M. Johnstone, E. P. Scallon and
C. E. Rodean.

The regular monthly business session of the Northwestern Hospital
Health Service Society, will be held
on Tuesday afternoon, August 7th,
at 3 o'clock. All members are urged
to attend, and friends are always
welcome.

R. R. Wise Entertains

A party was entertained Sunday at
the lake cottage of R. R. Wise.
Chicken a la Russian, which is
swifter than the American style, and
other equally delectable articles of
food made an attractive menu, and
a good time was enjoyed by all.

Brainerd Minister Writes From
Gothenburg, Sweden of Trip
Abroad

Gothenburg, Sweden, July 16
Editor Brainerd Daily Dispatch:
My friends in Brainerd and
especially the people of my congregation will be interested to read in
your valuable paper a greeting from a "tenderfoot abroad." Have had a most enjoyable trip across the Atlantic.

Spent Sunday, July first in Clevel-
and, with our church there, of
which I was the pastor some years
ago. Cleveland is a most beautiful
city with a population of 1,000,000
if the suburbs are included. It is now the fifth city of the United States
and next to Detroit the fastest growing city in the world.

Arrived in the western metropolis
New York, July 3rd. The Grand
Central station here is a marvel.
At 3 o'clock the same day the
"Stockholm" swung out in the North
River and as we viewed the sky-
scrapers against the sky line of
Manhattan on one side and the
Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island
on the other we passed on to the
open sea.

Had an unusually pleasant journey across, not enough storm for 10 days to make anyone seasick. On
the eighth day there was land in
sight and every passenger on deck,
viewing the northern part of Scott-
land and the Orkney Islands. Have spent two days in Gothenburg and
seen part of the Tercentennial Ex-
position. For a city in the old
world Gothenburg has grown won-
derfully and has doubled its population in the last twenty years having now 230,000. The exposition is
a revelation of wonderful progress
and is drawing a stream of tourists
from America, Great Britain and
other countries.

I will go to Stockholm tomorrow
as the time for the Baptist World
Congress is drawing night. On the
steamer we were 45 delegates to this
great convention and they are arriving on every boat and from every
direction.

It is a most wonderful experience
to me to see the country of my birth
once more, but I am also sure I shall
return to the country of my adoption
more contented to live and labor
there.

Yours very truly,
A. Paulson

Joy of the Work.

On the lower levels there is no
adaptation; our selfish desires are at
odds with nature, we are out for a
good time and get no response; . . .
but the keynote of the higher level is
joy—the joy of the laborer who has
found his work, of the lover who has
seen his object, of the hero who has
received his commission.—L. P. Jacks.

It was in the midst of a nose dive
and Reginald, who was making his
first flight, tugged frantically at the
pilot's sleeve. "We better get away
from here," he shrieked, "the earth's
swelling up like a balloon and it's
liable to burst any minute."

Concentrated Effort Being Made to Secure the Necessary
Funds

Townships May Donate, County to Aid, Con O'Brien's Aid Also
Enlisted

A concentrated effort is being
made to secure funds with which to
improve the road running north
from Merrifield to Pelican lake,
thence around the south and west
end of the lake toward Breezy Point.
Summer residents along this portion of Pelican lake intend to raise $300. It is hoped to get the town-
ships of Lake Edward and Pelican
to each donate $200, and Mayor Con
O'Brien has taken upon his shoulders
the responsibility of raising $500, it
is said.

At the meeting of the county commissioners held Saturday at the
court house, it was decided to give
$1,000 toward this road, provided
the above $1,200 is raised. This
would make a fund of $2,200 with
which to improve, what is known
locally as the "Inland Passage," a
road much favored for travel from
points on Pelican lake to Brainerd,
and shorter than any other highways
by seven or eight miles.

Association fostered this movement
last year and through its efforts
some money was expended and some
improvements made.

At the Saturday meeting of the
commissioners, the county auditor
was instructed to advertise for bids
for the building of one and a quarter
miles of highway in sections 16 and 17, township 136, range 28.

The contract for a sidewalk along
the east line of the court house
grounds on Fifth street, was awarded to Thompson Brothers, and Clau-
sen.

Fenstermacher-Veillette

On last Tuesday occurred the
wedding of A. Ray Fenstermacher to Miss Obeline Veillette, the ceremony
being performed by Father Tertoo-
gen at the Catholic parsonage in St.
Mathias. Mr. and Mrs. L. Savage of Minneapolis accompanied the contracting parties.

The bride wore a gown of blue
canton crepe and carried sweet peas.
Mrs. Savage also was attired in blue
canton crepe and carried sweet peas
and ferns.

Following the ceremony the bridal
party came to Brainerd, where a
wedding breakfast was served at the
home of the bride's brother, Albert
Veillette. The newlyweds spent
their honeymoon in a motor trip to Itasca park.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Veillette, of St.
Mathias, and is well and favorable
known in that section of the county.
The groom is the son of Elias Fen-
stermacher of Northeast Brainerd.
He is employed at the Northwest
Paper Mill.

The Dispatch joins the many
friends of this estimable young
couple in offering congratulations
and best wishes.

CHAUFFEUR'S LICENSE

State Law on Subject, Necessity of

Car for Another

Chief of Police Harry O. Gaskill
calls attention to the state law
which requires any person operating or driving a motor vehicle other
than his own, as an employee, must
procure a chauffeur's license.

Secretary of State Mike Holm, in
correspondence with Chief Gaskill,
states that regular examinations for
these licenses are held in St. Paul
only, but says further that if enough
applications can be secured in and
around Brainerd, a special examination will be held here.

All persons, knowing themselves
to come under this law, and who
have not already secured the required licenses, are asked to get in touch with Chief Gaskill at once, so
that the exact number can be ascertained and plans made accordingly
for the examination.

Gloria Swanson Scores Big Hit

Miss Swanson is known as the best gown star of the screen, and as a French dancer who becomes the rage, she has abundant opportunities for the display of rich toilettes all of which were warmly admired by her feminine followers. The picture is intensely interesting and there are many scenes of great power.

David Powell is leading man and in the supporting cast are Harrison Ford, Walter Hiers, Anne Cornwall and Charles Stevenson. "Her Gilded Cage" is one of the biggest hits of the current season, and will be shown tonight for the last time.

Speedy Western Film Stars "Hoot" Gibson

A speedy western drama spiced with rollicking humor and an occasional blast of dynamite partly describes "The Loaded Door," Hoot Gibson's latest Universal starring vehicle which comes to the Lyceum theatre Tuesday only.

The story is of a band of smugglers trafficking in whiskey and narcotics across the Mexican border, unhampered by none save a dinky county sheriff who is not equal to the task.

Playing the leading role opposite Gibson is Gertrude Olmsted, winner of a national beauty contest in Chicago, and one of the most popular of filmday's "baby stars."

"The Loaded Door" gives Gibson plenty of chance to fight and frolic through the whole five reels of thrills and humor. In this latest of his Universal starring vehicles, Gibson materially strengthens his reputation for being the finest horseman on the screen.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

LEONARD HAS NO RIVAL FOR L. W. CROWN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 6.—Benny Leonard, the world's lightweight champion, has ambitions to retire undefeated from the ring. Only one champion boxer on the list has done that and he was Jack McAuliffe. Rather coincidental, he was a lightweight also.

Unless he desires to pick up some more money that could be gathered in a number of small purse matches, there is no need for Leonard to postpone long the time for his retirement.

The ease with which he eliminated Lew Tendler in their recent fight from the list of logical contenders made Leonard so secure in the possession of his crown that it is practically riveted on his head.

The lightweight situation as it now stands was well put in the words of Phil Glassman, Tendler's manager, who said after his hope had been made to look like a novice by the clever Leonard:

"We're out of it for years. Our only hope is to let age wear the champion down and then take him."

Tendler's hopes of becoming champion, such as they are, are feeble indeed. While age is exacting its toll from Leonard, Tendler can't expect to be spared of the same penalty because he is only slightly younger than the champion.

When the Philadelphia southpaw was eliminated from the list, Leonard's prospects for future matches thinned down to the veteran, Charley White, and after the form the champion showed against Tendler, White is only an ordinary card.

Never a fast thinker, White never will have a chance as long as the quick witted, high-speed-brained Leonard retains his form. Being a clean liver and a boxer interested in his profession there is no reason why the champion should slip in a year or two years.

There has been some talk of a match between Leonard and Mickey Walker for the welterweight championship. There was also talk at one time that Leonard aspired to become the welterweight champion and retire as the possessor of two titles.

In his fight last summer with Jack Britton, Leonard very obviously had no great desire for the welterweight crown as he deliberately fouled Britton and lost the fight when he had the veteran welter champion just as good as knocked out.

Some opinion was expressed openly after the Tendler fight that Leonard had deliberately carried the Philadelphia challenger. Many wise followers of boxing, including Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, believed that Leonard could have knocked Tendler out if he had really wanted to win that way.

Leonard may have wanted to keep Tendler on his feet and build up another big money match with him for next season, but after the beating Tendler took, spectators were convinced that Tendler is no match for the champion and is no longer a good card.

HAGEN, KIRKWOOD TO PLAY IN MILL CITY

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—Minneapolis will be host to three of the leading golfers now in competition if present plans materialize. Walter Hagen, former National Open and British Open champion and Joe Kirkwood, Australian wizard, have been invited to play an exhibition match here.

Hagen and Kirkwood, one of the three professional teams, now touring the country, have been invited by James Hunter, president of the Minneapolis Golf club, to appear in an exhibition match, one of the features of the formal opening of the club's new course.

They form a brilliant combination. Hagen, one of the game's most consistent players and holders of numerous championships, and Kirkwood, a golfer of championship caliber and a trick shot artist, have defeated nearly all the leading professionals in special matches.

Bobby Jones, winner of the national open title, has written that he will play in the Minnesota state open championship and it is hoped that he will be here to oppose Hagen and Kirkwood.

Jones is planning a vacation in the north, and has notified officials of the state open that he will play, if it is possible to include Minneapolis. He is a close friend of Harrison Johnston, present state champion, and has written "Jimmy" that he will be here if nothing unforeseen comes up.

GIRL CLIPS 1-5 SECOND FROM 2 SWIM RECORDS

Long Beach, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Miss Adelaide Ambert, 15 year old swimming champion from the Panama Canal zone, clipped one-fifth of a second off two world's records here today in winning the special 300 meters race.

She swam the 300 meters in 4:29 3-5 and her time for the first 300 yards was 4:05 2-5. Both former records were held by Miss Helen Wainwright, New York.

Miss Aleen Riggins, New York, Olympic diving champion, won the national senior championship for

DULUTH CREWS WIN NATIONAL TITLES

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—The Duluth Boat club, Duluth, retained its supremacy in the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, taking the Barnes Point trophy in the 51st annual regatta on the Springs Garden course here.

The Point victory, however, took little of the sting from defeat at the hands of the Urdine Barge club of Philadelphia in the senior eight oar shell race, the final and most spectacular event of the day. The time of the Philadelphians over the mile and a quarter course was 6 minutes 35 1-5 seconds. Duluth's time was 6 minutes 36 seconds.

The most bitterly contested of the 13 other events on the program was the single sculls championship race which brought a new national champion in the person of Edward J. McGuire, brawny policeman of Buffalo, N. Y. McGuire is a member of the Mutual Rowing club of Buffalo.

Gloria Swanson Scores Big Hit

Miss Swanson is known as the best gowned star of the screen, and as a French dancer who becomes the rage, she has abundant opportunities for the display of rich toilettes all of which were warmly admired by her feminine followers. The picture is intensely interesting and there are many scenes of great power.

David Powell is leading man and in the supporting cast are Harrison Ford, Walter Hiers, Anne Cornwall and Charles Stevenson. "Her Gilded Cage" is one of the biggest hits of the current season, and will be shown tonight for the last time.

A speedy western drama spiced with rollicking humor and an occasional blast of dynamite party describes "The Loaded Door," Hoot Gibson's latest Universal starring vehicle which comes to the Lyceum theatre Tuesday only.

The story is of a band of smugglers trafficking in whiskey and narcotics across the Mexican border, unhampered by none save a dinky county sheriff who is not equal to the task.

Playing the leading role opposite Gibson is Gertrude Olmsted, winner of a national beauty contest in Chicago, and one of the most popular of filmdom's "baby stars."

"The Loaded Door" gives Gibson plenty of chance to fight and frolic through the whole five reels of thrills and humor. In this latest of his Universal starring vehicles, Gibson materially strengthens his reputation for being the finest horseman on the screen.
